

| Workshop Title | Organisational Behaviour |
|-------------------------------|--|
| Workshop Description | This workshop is designed to introduce delegates to the theories and concepts underlying individual and group behaviour within an organisation. It is important for managers to understand organisational dynamics, to ensure that the organisational environment is managed to ensure harmony and productivity. The workshop would cover the understanding of individual behaviour, values, attitudes and job satisfaction. The workshop will also cover personality traits, emotions, perception and decision making. A key aspect of the workshop will look at methods to improve motivation and how to promote group behaviour and how teams work to improve better communication, sound leadership and trust. The workshop also covers human resource policies, practice and organisational culture. The final outcome of the workshop will look at organisational change and stress management. |
